WINTER HEALTH TIPS

The change in weather that accompanies the start of winter often serves as a reminder that it's time for us to be extra mindful about immune support.

Here are some basic actions that you can take to boost your immune system during the winter months:

Hygiene

- Wash your hands with soap and water frequently throughout the day
- Keep surfaces clean. Use disinfectant wipes to clean your desk, computer, telephone, etc.
- Avoid touching your nose, eyes and mouth
- Wash out your water bottle daily
- Diet
 - Incorporate lean meat, dairy, eggs and legumes into the diet and avoid refined sugars and unhealthy fats (saturated and trans-fats) [1]
 - Increase consumption of fruits and vegetables that contain Vitamin C, such as oranges, lemons, strawberries, peppers, Brussels sprouts and broccoli
 - Eat more garlic; it has immune system boosting properties
 - Lifestyle
 - Ensure you are getting enough sleep
 - Manage your stress. An increase in stress may interrupt optimal immune system function
 - Participate in moderate physical activity for 35 minutes daily

JOKE

Mr. and Mrs. Brown had two sons. One was named Mind Your Own Business & the other was named Trouble. One day the two boys decided to play hide and seek. Trouble hid while Mind Your Own Business counted to one hundred. Mind Your Own Business began looking for his brother behind garbage cans and bushes. Then he started looking in and under cars until a police man approached him and asked, "What are you doing?" "Playing a game," the boy replied. "What is your name?" the officer questioned. "Mind Your Own Business." Furious the policeman inquired, "Are you looking for trouble?!" The boy replied, "Why, yes."
